Six international speakers

Pam Burrows

Pam has helped leaders and teams stress less and perform better for over 30 years, both locally and internationally. With one of her key customers she was awarded a European Health and Safety award for reducing stress in the workplace.

Anthony Stears

Anthony is an international speaker, author and highly regarded trainer. Better known as "The Telephone Assassin" and he's on a mission to get businesses talking again and stop people from hiding behind their emails and social media.

Roberto Forzoni

Roberto has a background as a football coach at Premier League clubs, he is an experienced public speaker with a wealth of TV and radio work under his belt. His talks are informative, evidenced-based and fun, and now have an additional 'extra' that make them entertaining for your staff and clients.

Marianne Abib-Pech

Marianne is the author of 'The Financial Times Guide to Leadership'. She is recognised for unlocking ideas and acting as a powerful bridge between entrepreneurship and the investment world. Marianne believes it is time to re-define the role of venture capital and private equity, and re-invent investment. Marianne is a venture partner for a Europe-based Life Sciences fund and advisor for the first Israeli space-focused incubator.

Renee Lee Rosenberg

Renee, who is flying in from New York, is a Licensed Mental Health Clinical Career Counsellor, Executive Coach, author, speaker and trainer. She works with people to minimize disruption in their career or business.

Baiju Solanki

Baiju is an award-winning businessman and TEDx speaker. He is the CEO and founder of EnSpirit Global, a platform that serves to inspire, educate and connect the entrepreneurial spirit in all of those who wish to live their best life.
